SUNDAY A BIG DAY FOR ST. MICHAEL'S

Description of the New Church and History of Denomination Dating
From the Times of the Work
Among the Indians.

The New Church.

On September 15, 1910, the corner stone for the new St. Michael's church was laid. A delegation of 500 from South Bend, and surrounding points, composed a special train to Plymouth at that event. In less than 13 months the edifice, which cost $30,000, has been completed and is ready for the first services.

The building is constructed of pressed brick, trimmed with Bedford stone. The architecture is of the Romanesque style, with tall towers on either side, surmounted by domes and crosses covered with gold leaf.

Three front entrances grace the fore part of the structure, which is approached by broad cement steps. A corresponding number of aisles lead to the sanctuary rail. The choir gallery is located above the front entrance, and is a roomy section in which the pipe organ is placed. Elaborate stained glass windows lend their effect to a beautiful building.

The floor of the edifice is of mosaic tile. The walls are decorated with portraits of biblical characters, and scenes from early Christian days. The 14 stations composing the way of the cross are also executed on the walls. The entire work of decorating was done by Gioseio, an Italian artist, of Indianapolis.

Three altars are located within the sanctuary. These are of white enamel decorated with bronze and gold leaf, and fully equipped with electric candelabra, and other embellishments. The sanctuary rail is 30 feet in width, and is of the same material as the altars.

One of Best Appointed.

The new church, although not the largest in the diocese, is said to be one of the best appointed structures in this section of the state, and the beauty of the details can hardly be surpassed.

A traveling man recently in Plymouth saw the church and declared it was far the best he had ever seen in a city of this size.

History of Church.

The history of the Catholic church in Plymouth dates from 1832, when the treaty of the United States with the Indians assigned as their reserve, to the Pottawatomies, a region of country to the southwest of Plymouth. Its northeastern corner being near the western border of the town. The Pottawatomies were Catholics, and a good sized Chapel, built of logs, occupied a site on the north bank of one of the Twin Lakes.

Prior to 1842 early missionaries of the Jesuit Order visited these regions. From 1842, however, the Fathers of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, attended to the spiritual wants of these Indians and the early Catholic settlers of Marshall county. In 1856 three lots were bought for $500.00, on which now stands the old church, priest's house, and the school. The first resident pastor was Rev. Gabriel Volkert, from 1862 to 1864. The church was built in 1863, and dedicated by Bishop Luers in September of that year. From 1864-66 Rev. George Steiner was pastor. After him came Rev. Francis Siegelack, 1866-69. In October, 1869, Rev. George Zurwellan took charge of the parish and ministered faithfully until February 5, 1883, the date of his death. He built the present brick building known as St. Michael's Academy, in 1870. The same year he bought the Church Bell. From 1863-98 Rev. Louis Moench was pastor. The balance of the church debt was paid, and the pastoral residence built. Succeeding pastors were Rev. Chas. Lemper, 1898 till his death December 13, 1900; Rev. Simon Yenn till July, 1905; Rev. Henry Kappel from July to September, 1905; Rev. John Tremmel, the present pastor, since September, 1905.

Under the careful management of these pastors the fund for a new church grew rapidly, until September 18, 1910, the corner stone of the new St. Michael's was laid. Erected on one of the three lots purchased by Father Zurwellan in 1872, built of brick in the Romanesque style, the new church stands today, a beautiful temple of worship.

The best Plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one tenth as much. For sale by All Dealers.

Will Love Factory.

J. H. Sonfield is now engaged in moving his cigar factory to Ft. Wayne. The arrangements have been completed and he expects to remove his family Thursday or Friday of next week. Mr. Sonfield has been in the cigar business for some time and although prospering here has decided to go where he will have a wider territory for distributing his goods. He has arranged with Mr. Linkenbelt to act as his distributing agent here.

You are not experimenting on yourself when you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold as that preparation has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds, and can always be depended upon. It is equally valuable for adults and children and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drug. Sold by All Dealers.

FOR THE GOOD OF REPUBLICAN PARTY IN STATE

WILL H. CRAIG OF NOBLESVILLE GIVES VIEWS ON RE-ORGANIZATION—RANK AND FILE MUST AWAKE.

BOSS RULE CONDEMNED

Machine Domination Must Be Eliminated If Party Is To Be Successful Next Year.

The South Bend Tribune, northern Indiana's great newspaper, is just now giving interviews with prominent republicans over the state on the reorganization of the party. The following from Will H. Craig of Noblesville, well known as one of Indiana's leading republican editors and writers, will be found full of sound advice.

"The time for the reorganization of the republican party will soon be at hand. It is of vital importance that this work is done right, but it will not be done right unless the mass of republicans wake up and get busy in this organization work.

Sorry Condition of Affairs.

"When great issues divide the parties organization is not of such importance as in times like these when no issues are paramount. On the political questions that have been to the front in recent years the parties have been split. In congress it is hard to tell a republican from a democrat. This is a sorry condition of affairs, caused largely by ambitious demagogues, who thought they were bigger than the party that made and honored them. This fact applies more to the republican than to the democratic party.

"Principles and policies being somewhat at a discount in these latter days of fads and spurious reforms the voters look more and more to the personnel of the party candidates and the directors of the party organization. Before such organizations are made the people need to be aroused to their duty. The masses need to be stirred up. An educational campaign should precede the work of organization. Why? To prevent the few selfish fellows getting control of the organization to use it for their own selfish purposes.

"Republicans of Indiana, we must get from under boss and machine rule. We want no more one man campaigns—on a non-partisan platform—merely to glorify and exalt a little dictator. The people must feel and know that they have a part in the organization or they will take no part in the campaign and election that follow. Many of the best republicans keep aloof from the organization and from the primaries and conventions. They say: 'What is the use? The rings have things fixed up. Let them go. We want to be free to act and vote as we please.'"

"This is not the proper spirit, nor right method. What the better class of voters should do is to be active and make an organization of the people; and this organization should be composed of honest, upright men; men in whom the people have confidence; men, intelligent enough to manage a campaign not for certain individuals but for the party. The people will not follow as leaders a few office holders and selfish politicians. The republicans of Indiana have certainly had enough of campaigns managed by such persons.

Damage Done by Machines.

"I am thoroughly convinced that the machines have done more in recent years to destroy the republican majority in Indiana than either the tariff or the temperance questions. This is especially true in our congressional districts. In this, the Ninth district, our candidates for congress have been defeated without a doubt by the postoffice machine. It is a true in other districts when a few postmasters and revenue collectors form themselves into a close corporation to perpetuate themselves in power and in order to control the organization.

"They have revolted in the past and will continue to revolt until these petty officers know their places and keep them.

"President Taft does not need the postoffice machine to get the delegates from Indiana for his re-nomination, but he does need the electors of the state in November, 1912. To secure these electors he should not be burdened with this machine of patronage hunters and patronage beneficiaries. Postmaster General Hitchcock could do no better and wiser thing than to send out instructions to the postmasters of Indiana to stay on their jobs and keep out of politics. It is not only right but good policy. In this district, when a vacancy occurs in any post-office, a few of the bosses of the machine meet at the Columbia club, Indianapolis, and select a man to fill the vacancy. Their policy is, the public be damned.

"While I do not believe in the populist theory of electing United States senators by popular vote, yet to remedy the evils of the machine rule I am in favor of electing postmasters by a primary. And I am in favor of primaries by township to elect precinct committeemen and delegates to the various conventions. The haphazard method of election of these men has become a farce. The voters will not attend these township conventions, where tickets and slates are arranged beforehand. In 1910 the chairman of the committee on resolutions of the republican state convention was elected as a delegate to said convention by three votes where two precincts were thrown to gether and there was a total republican vote of 162 at the November election. If this indifference and carelessness are to continue we might as well hang our harps on the willows.

New Deal is the Need.

"And they will continue if the rings keep butting in and getting control of the organizations. We hear much about 'getting together' and 'pulling together.' That is a mighty good thing to do, but the trouble is that such talk is from the fellows that are in and want to stay in. What we need and what we must have if we win is a new deal. In baseball parlance, when a man is knocked out of the box he is sent to the dug out and a new man is given a trial. The same rule should apply in politics. We cannot afford to run chances on a losing pitcher merely to gratify his ambition or to vindicate his ability. "Let us get together, by all means but let it be a getting together of the rank and file—all the voters and not a few that are interested only in a mess of pottage."

It is believed Mr. Craig's appeal for a "getting together of the rank and file" will awaken in the people a desire to follow his advice and to endeavor to eliminate machine domination. Mr. Craig feels that the time has come when this must be done and believes that the success of the republican party in Indiana is largely dependent upon it.

THIS COUNTY BEATS WEST FOR APPLES

DISCOVERY MADE OF AN ATTEMPT TO EXHIBIT WASHINGTON FRUIT AT HOME COMING.

STANDARD WAS TOO HIGH

After Seeing Home Grown Apples Westerners Decided Not To Exhibit Their Finest Output In Competition.

An interesting as well as humorous circumstance has just leaked out regarding the apple show at the Plymouth Home Coming and Fall Festival. It is related, on good authority, that certain persons were in Plymouth ready to show fine specimens of Washington apples.

These persons were expecting to make a hit for the great apple growing region of the northwest by a comparison of fruit which would make the Marshall county exhibits look "like thirty cents." They were going to show Marshall county farmers how to grow apples; they were going to tell the people what a great land was the northwest for fruit, and how much money could be made on it if only the fruit grower had the proper soil and the right climate.

They considered the Home Coming time would be a magnificent place for them to advertise their Washington lands—the comparison of apples would be proof sufficient to anybody that one to make money on apples must go to the northwest to do it.

It would be "easy" and all they would have to do would be to place their apple exhibits alongside the Marshall county fruit, tell their story and the work would be done.

However, these people were wise. They took no chances. They considered that it would be only the part of prudence to take a glance around at the exhibits of local fruit before they brought in their samples. So they peeked in—and peeked around—and opened their eyes wide—and never came back with their Washington apples!

The Marshall county fruit was so far superior to the northwest that they did not dare bring their Washington apples in for comparison!

Children Sick and Starving.

A sad case of destitution was relieved Friday afternoon by the patients at the Sanitarium and Hospital. Their notice had been called to the case of a family of eight which, through sickness, had been reduced to the verge of starvation. The patients subscribed several dollars with which the necessities of life were purchased in plenty for the family. The patients again today provided the family with its Sunday dinner, and fuel with which to cook it. The township physician had been attending the sick children and had promised to report the case, which was an urgent one, to the trustee but had evidently failed to do so. The case is a most deserving one and should be looked after by the proper authorities.

A Medicine that Gives Confidence Is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. T. J. Adams, 522 No. Kansas Ave., Columbus, Kas., writes: "For a number of years my children have been subject to coughs and colds. I used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and found that it cured their coughs and colds, so I keep it in the house all the time." Refuse substitutes. For sale by Fred Wenzler.

Will Leave For California.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Petit arrived in Plymouth Friday night from Ft. Wayne, where they spent a few weeks visiting Mr. Petit's relatives. They will remain with Mrs. Petit's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Seybold until tomorrow where they will leave for Los Angeles, California, where they will spend the winter.

Foley's Kidney Remedy vs. a Hopeless Case.

Hon. Ark. J. E. Freeman says: "I had a severe case of kidney trouble and could not work and my case seemed hopeless. One large bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy cured me and I have never been bothered since. I always recommend it." For sale by Fred Wenzler.

Wythougan Chapter Meeting.

Wythougan Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held a special meeting at the residence of Mrs. Eva L. Underwood on Thursday evening, with Mrs. Mary Thayer Regent, presiding. The most important business was choosing Mrs. Carrie Tanner and Mrs. Hattie Evers as delegates to the State meeting to be held at Indianapolis next week.

Take Your Common Colds Seriously.

For all coughs and colds in children and in grown persons, take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. For sale by Fred Wenzler.

Undergoes Operation Successfully.

Lloyd Powell was taken to the Lutheran Hospital at Ft. Wayne Friday evening and was operated on Saturday Dr. Swearingen of Fort Wayne was here in consultation Friday afternoon and it was decided to take Mr. Powell to that city for an operation.

It was found that the injury on the roulette wheel had produced an abscess in the peritoneum.

Biliousness is due to a disordered condition of the stomach. Chamberlain's Tablets are essentially a stomach medicine, intended especially to get on that organ, to cleanse it, strengthen it, tone and invigorate it, to regulate the liver and to banish biliousness positively and effectively. For sale by All Dealers.

Hard on Marshall.

"The outraged citizenship of all parties, led by the anti-saloon league, and the Moses of our deliverance, J. Frank Hanly, will lead us out of the wilderness and into the land of promise." This was the assertion of J. G. Campbell, superintendent of the Greenacres district of the anti-saloon league, at the Methodist conference Wednesday. Supt. Campbell declared that Governor Marshall "howled to Baeus" when he signed the repeal of the option law.
